Guidelines
To create a good summary of your idea you need to name the idea’s most valuable and core solutions and facets which makes it unique.
When designing solutions, designers are often faced with countless innovative ideas that need to be synthesized and bundled into dedicated value propositions. While the concepts of customer value and value propositions are somewhat abstract, the NABC (Need, Approach, Benefit, Competition) framework can help to better understand and sharpen the value proposition of your product or service.

The framework has been developed by Curtis Carlson and William Wilmot and has been summarized in their book "Innovation – The Five Disciplines for Creating What Customers Want".
